
Threshold calibration controls empirical benign-validation FPR, not probability calibration.
Weighted and Hamming settings are selected separately; this is not an isolated formula ablation.